Today's business environment requires smart thinking, quick action and rapid response to constantly changing conditions.

International companies are facing daily challenges to attract and retain the best talent that will add value to their core business development.

The most effective corporate still remains one of the biggest corporate challenges throughout international organisations. Surveys confirm that finding: keeping and inspiring the best people is at the top of the CEO's agenda.

The most effective corporate HR strategies are successfully aligning people management with business objectives, trying to meet the needs of both employees and organisations.

The capacity to have the right talent, at the right place, at the right time, at the right costs is crucial. The impact of technology on people management, communication, cost structure and the HR function itself has also become inevitable.

The HR Directors Summit will bring together leading Human Resource professionals from Western and Eastern Europe and the United States to participate and deliberate on the theme Talent Management and HR Strategies. The HR Directors Summit will offer presentations, panel discussions, case studies and workshops by top industry Professionals, Researchers, Consultants and Academics.

The delegates will learn about emerging challenges and development strategies in the Human Resources industry in order to achieve greater business results.

The event will provide a platform for HR professionals to interact and share their challenges and experiences in Human Resources. The HR Directors Summit will demonstrate positive ROI solutions with practical examples, tools and proven techniques.
